China Dares Russia To Face A Showdown

TOKYO (AP) — Red China charged scoldfully Friday that Soviet Premier Khrushchev's followers are "cowardly as mice." The Chinese dared the Russians to be men enough to lay the Moscow-Peking quarrel before the court of world Communist opinion.

In a heavy new propaganda barrage at the Kremlin, Peking accused Moscow of cracking the whip over world Communist leaders. It said the anti-Chinese Communist countries used powerful stations to jam Peking broadcasts to prevent people from hearing Mao Tse-tung's side of the argument.

The violent attack broadcast by the New China News Agency rejected any servant-to-master relationship for Red China and the Soviet party. The agency, quoting a long article in Red Flag, theoretical journal of the Chinese party, recalled that Peking had published statements giving the views of Khrushchev, Pravda and the Soviet premier's European supporters.

'Scared To Death'

But of the Khrushchev followers, it said: "Cowardly as mice, they are scared to death. They dare not let the people of their own countries see our articles for themselves and have endeavored to impose a watertight embargo. They are even using a powerful station to jam our broadcasts to prevent people from listening."

This was the second belligerent article to appear in Peking this week, clearly indicating the split between Moscow and Peking is deepening, despite Kremlin attempts to soft-pedal the dispute.

Peking accused Moscow of provoking the whole thing and then refusing to tell the Chinese side.

"Friends, comrades, if you are men enough, step forward, let each side in the debate publish all the articles in which it is criticized by the other side, and let the people in our own countries and the whole world figure out and judge who is right and who is wrong," challenged Peking's Red Flag.

Want Both Sides

"That is what we are doing. And we hope you will follow our example. We are not afraid to publish everything of yours in full. We publish all the masterpieces in which you rail at us. Then, in reply, we either answer them point by point, or we answer the main points. Sometimes we publish your articles without any answer, leaving it to the readers to judge for themselves.

"Is that not fair and reasonable? You, modern revisionists—a way of referring to Khrushchev's followers—masters! Do you dare to do the same? If you are men enough, you will. But having a guilty conscience and an unjust case, being fierce of visage but faint of heart, outwardly as tough as bulls but inwardly as timid as mice, you will not dare. We know you will not dare. Is that so? Please answer?"

The article categorically rejected Moscow dictation.

N. Y. Post Plans To Resume Publication

NEW YORK (AP) — Publisher Dorothy Schiff announced Thursday that the New York Post will resume publication on Monday. It has been closed throughout the 83-day New York newspaper black-out.

Mrs. Schiff, sole owner of the afternoon tabloid, said: "I think the strike has gone on long enough. I see no evidence of a settlement."

The Post will be the first of nine closed newspapers to reopen. Four of the papers were struck Dec. 8 by Local 6, AFL-CIO International Typographical Union. The Post was one of five unstruck papers that closed voluntarily.

Mrs. Schiff said she had resigned from the Publishers Association of New York City, in order to gain freedom to reopen the paper.

The New York Post is the city's oldest continuously published newspaper, founded by Alexander Hamilton in 1801.

At the time it suspended publication, it employed 1,183 persons. The Post's circulation reached 335,859 last September, a gain of 21,000 over the same month of 1962. It has the smallest circulation of the city's three afternoon newspapers.

Standing beside Mrs. Schiff as she made her announcement was Bertram A. Powers, president of striking Local 6, ITU. He previously had offered to send his printers back to work on the nonstruck papers whenever they wanted to reopen. The union had labeled the closing of the five nonstruck papers as a lockout.

The printers said they would work the five nonstruck papers under terms of their old contract during negotiations for a new one.

Bible Reading In Schools Argued In Supreme Court

WASHINGTON (AP) — Counsel for Pennsylvania told the Supreme Court Thursday that a decision against Bible reading in public schools would be an expression of hostility to religion.

John D. Killian III, deputy attorney general of the state, contended such a decision would violate the requirement of the Constitution's First Amendment that government remain neutral toward religion.

Pennsylvania law, requiring the reading of 10 Bible verses as part of daily school-opening exercises, was ruled unconstitutional by a three-judge federal court in Philadelphia. The ruling was on complaint of Unitarian parents of two school children who said the Constitution guarantees them complete freedom to shape and mold the religious orientation of their children.

Arguing for reversal of the lower court ruling, Killian said the Bible-reading practice extends back to Colonial days in Pennsylvania. He insisted the reading is not a religious practice but an educational one.

Philip H. Ward III, Philadelphia attorney for the Abington Township School Board, said religious instruction was not intended by the legislature and denied that the readings amount to such instruction.

Opposing the arguments of Ward and Killian, Henry W. Sawyer III of Philadelphia, counsel for those challenging the statute, argued religious teaching cannot be separated from Bible reading. He challenged the state's use of the Bible as a teacher of morality, saying, "You can't use the word 'morality' to cover religious exercises."

The Pennsylvania litigation, begun by Mr. and Mrs. Edward Lewis Schupp, and a similar case from Maryland, were argued Wednesday and Thursday and the nine justices then took the issue under consideration for later decision.

In the Maryland case, Mrs. Madalyn Murray and her 16-year-old son objected, as atheists, to school Bible reading and recitation of the Lord's Prayer.

Both cases arose under the Constitution's First Amendment which prohibits government aid in establishment of religion and bars any impairment of religious freedom. The final decision will affect similar school-opening exercises in many other states.

Would Insure Voting Rights For All:

Kennedy Asks For Broad Powers In Civil Rights

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy asked Congress Thursday for unprecedented powers to safeguard Negro voting rights, including referees to rule on voter qualifications as soon as a registrar's impartiality is challenged in federal court.

Other federal action, no matter how speedy and how drastic, Kennedy said, can never correct abuses of local and state power to curtail Negro civil rights.

The President, spelling out his first civil rights program to Congress, added:

"It is necessary instead to free the forces of our democratic system within these areas by promptly insuring the franchise to all citizens, making it possible for their elected officials to be truly responsible to all their constituents."

The President also called for federal help in ending school segregation and requested a four-year extension of the Civil Rights Commission with expanded duties.

"The program outlined in this message should not provide the occasion for sectional bitterness," Kennedy said. "No state or section of this nation can pretend a self-righteous role, for every area has its own civil rights problems."

Civil rights advocates in Congress generally hailed the program as a step in the right direction. Many said it didn't go far enough.

Typical of Southern reaction was that of Sen. A. Willis Robertson, D-Va., who said:

"As far as Virginia is concerned we can get along very well without any of that new legislation."

White House officials acknowledged there is a good chance a

Southern filibuster might result when the program comes up for Senate action.

They insisted, however, that the proposals are realistic and have a good chance of being enacted.

The legislative requests are expected to be submitted within 10 days as three separate bills.

Kennedy said slavery has vanished in the century since the Emancipation Proclamation, but "progress for the Negro has been too often blocked and delayed."

He said, "Equality before the law has not always meant equal treatment and opportunity. And the harmful, wasteful and wrongful results of racial discrimination and segregation still appear in virtually every aspect of national life, in virtually every part of the nation."

Kennedy made two new recommendations to speed up action in voting rights cases:

—Calling for appointment of federal referees to pass on voter qualifications as soon as the suit is filed in any county where less than 15 per cent of the eligible population of any race claiming discrimination is registered to vote.

—Calling for voting right suits to be given priority in federal courts, just as election suits are expedited in some state courts "on the sensible premise that, unless the right to vote can be exercised in a specific election, it is, to the extent of that election, lost forever."

Both would apply to local, state or federal elections.

Under present law, a referee may be appointed only after a federal judge finds that discrimination exists. Presently, there are some 200 counties, mainly in five Southern states, where less than 15 per cent of any racial group is registered to vote.

The referees would have to follow existing state laws and regulations, and their actions would be subject to court review.

Officials said the interim referees could make it possible for Negroes to vote immediately without the two- to three-year wait that often results as voting rights cases are appealed.

Kennedy had two other requests, which would apply only in federal elections:

—A specific ban on the application of different tests and standards to different people.

—A declaration that anyone who has completed the sixth grade is presumed to be literate.

Chicago Alderman Murdered

CHICAGO (AP) — Alderman Benjamin F. Lewis, 52, a Democratic Negro power in Chicago's city council, was found handcuffed and shot to death Thursday in his 24th Ward office.

A motive for the killing was not apparent.

There was City Hall talk that the shadowy crime syndicate had threatened Lewis with death if he did not drop out of the council. Alderman John J. Hoellen, a member of the Republican minority, suggested immediately, "the syndicate was not happy with Lewis."

Re-elected Tuesday

Lewis was re-elected to his second term Tuesday, defeating a Republican, Jeff Clifford Alford, also a Negro, by a margin of more than 12-1.

The slender, mustached politician was found by a janitor about 9 a.m., lying face down beside a desk in the orderly office at 3604 W. Roosevelt Road into which he had moved Feb. 15.

Dr. Andrew Toman, the coroner, said Lewis was killed about 7 a.m. by three closely placed shots in the back of his head, apparently as he sat handcuffed in a desk chair. Four spent cartridge casings of .32 caliber were found on the floor, apparently ejected by an automatic pistol.

Some difference of opinion as to the time of death was apparent, however, among investigators. Police indicated he might have been killed some hours earlier.

James H. Smith, a real estate agent whose office was near Lewis', said he heard Lewis telephoning in his office about 10 p.m., when Smith left the building.

Door Forced Open

Merlin Nygren, assistant deputy superintendent of police, said a rear door of the two-story building where the alderman was slain had been forced open, apparently by Lewis' slayer or slayers. Lewis' office was on the second floor.

Nygren said robbery apparently was not the motive because Lewis' ring and watch were in place.

Lewis, also the Democratic committeeman of the heavily Negro ward on the near southwest side, was considered by fellow council members both powerful and well-liked in the ward.

Scranton Asks Legislators To Speed Up His Program

HARRISBURG (AP) — Gov. Scranton disclosed Thursday he has asked his legislative leaders to speed up action on his program.

It was the first open indication the governor might be impatient with the pace set so far on the 46 bills with administration endorsement introduced in the first seven weeks of the administration.

Only one has received a final vote in either chamber, the bill banning political officers and public employees from owning stock or holding jobs in harness tracks licensed to permit pari-mutuel gambling. It passed the House last Monday night.

"I did speak to the leadership last Monday morning and suggested to them rather strongly that they speed up the activity within the Senate and in the Assembly," he told his weekly news conference, "and I assume this is being done."

The governor has refused to give Democrats any sympathy for their criticism of alleged legislative inactivity.

The governor's urging came as his timetable moved toward phase three of his legislative program, industrial development.

Optimistic On Program

That is due for presentation next Tuesday and Scranton told newsmen he thought his overall economic program would bear fruit in the form of jobs by mid-fall.

Besides legislation, he also plans massive promotional efforts throughout the nation to spur interest in Pennsylvania products and potential as an industrial site.

In other news conference developments:

New York State drinking age—"Off hand, I'm inclined to agree that the 21 limit, I mean age limit, is probably the proper one, but we'd like to know what the New York State thinking is."

This was a reference to the fact New York's legal drinking age is 18 whereas all its neighboring states have 21 as the legal age. They have asked New York State in the past to raise its limit to conform.

The governor's office said it would be at least next week before the report is made public.

Anti-Transit Strike Legislation—A bill introduced this week to provide compulsory arbitration in labor disputes involving public transit companies and banning strikes in this area has the favor, but not the formal backing, of the administration, Scranton said.

Charmbury also planned to discuss the report with representatives of the union and company, Murphy added.

The governor's office said it would be at least next week before the report is made public.

Mines Secretary H. Beecher Charmbury also planned to discuss the report with Donald C. Jones of Pennsylvania State University's Mineral Industries Continuing Education Service, who represented Charmbury at the hearings.

Robena Mine Disaster — Scranton promised a report Friday on the mine disaster that took 37 lives at the Robena Mine in the U.S. Steel Corp. last December.

William G. Murphy, secretary to the governor, said release of the report would not be made until interested parties, including the United Mine Workers and U.S. Steel, have received copies.

Mines Secretary H. Beecher Charmbury also planned to discuss the report with Donald C. Jones of Pennsylvania State University's Mineral Industries Continuing Education Service, who represented Charmbury at the hearings.

Government Rests; Defense Due Today

(Special To The Daily Record)

SCRANTON—A handwriting expert told a federal judge and jury yesterday that signatures on two forged checks of Co. A, First Battle Group, 109th Infantry, were not those of M. Sgt. Robert E. Schoonover of East Stroudsburg.

Schoonover is on trial before Chief Federal Judge Michael Sheridan on charges of check forgery and using the mails to defraud the government.

The government rested its case about 2 p.m. and Judge Sheridan denied a defense motion for a directed verdict of acquittal.

Atty. Edwin Krawitz, representing Schoonover, told the jury of nine men and three women that Schoonover "didn't participate with First Sgt. Vincent Marek Jr., in any unlawful purpose."

Schoonover "didn't participate in any scheme with Marek to perpetrate fraud on the U.S. government," Krawitz added.

Implicated By Marek

Marek, in testimony Wednesday, implicated Schoonover with an alleged illegal practice of diverting U.S. Treasury checks destined for National Guardsmen.

Col. John J. Remetta, commander of the First Battle Group, and Major John E. McDonald, adjutant, were spectators at yesterday's session.

Gerald E. Shanley Jr., Stroudsburg, former commander of Co. A, who faces criminal charges involving check forgery, using the mails to defraud and false statements, also was a spectator.

Lawrence McCool, the handwriting expert, was on the witness stand when court adjourned until 10 a.m. today.

He testified that signatures on the two checks which formed the government's case and which admittedly were forged, were not those of Schoonover.

The checks, drawn in the names of Russell O. Frederick, and Earl Everett, were diverted, the government charges, and did not reach the payees.

McCool said he has been a handwriting expert and engraver for the past 25 years, having learned the trade from his late father. He said he did not have any special schooling to qualify for his work.

May Call Expert

Indications are the government will call upon an expert, possibly from the Secret Service, in rebuttal testimony.

The defense offered into evidence, without any government objection, a paper containing four signatures, purportedly written by Schoonover in McCool's presence.

Schoonover took the witness stand briefly to identify a social security card and an armed forces identification card, each carrying his signature.

McCool said he compared these signatures with the check endorsements and expressed the opinion that the endorsements were not made by Schoonover. The handwriting expert said flatly, "No, he didn't write it."

McCool said he made a study of the checks involved in the case briefly in the morning and go into next week, as Atty. Krawitz has several witnesses to call, including Schoonover.

equipment used in making comparisons.

Secret Service Agent James Burke, now in Detroit, Mich., who played a major role in investigating the payroll irregularities and check forgeries of Co. A, testified to a statement Schoonover made to him under oath in November, 1960.

The text of the statement: "I, Robert E. Schoonover, hereby make the following statement of my own free will, knowing that it could be used against me in a court of law."

Had Some Mailed To His Home

"I had several checks mailed to my home. However, I turned those checks in to First Sgt. Marek in the orderly room. There were about three checks which were mailed to someone else who turned them in to me and I had the men come in and gave them the checks."

"I know from helping with the payroll that many checks were being mailed to Sgt. Marek's mailing address. I know the money was to be used for the company. I did not realize that Sgt. Marek was signing the checks. I knew he had the money, but I did not know if he was cashing them himself. I thought that he was doing this with the knowledge and consent of the individuals."

Marek had testified Schoonover helped him prepare the payroll vouchers with the forged addresses and that some checks were diverted to Schoonover's home address. The two checks in the case were sent to Schoonover at his home address, according to the testimony.

Agent Burke said he questioned Schoonover regarding 16 alleged forged checks of Co. A. Schoonover then denied having forged any of the drafts, according to Burke. Burke said Schoonover told him he had turned over the checks to Marek.

The jury was told by Krawitz that Schoonover believed the checks were being re-routed to compel men who couldn't be reached to come to the orderly room for the drafts.

Krawitz said Schoonover did not have any part in changing addresses of the two checks involved.

Frederick, one of the check payees, was called as a defense witness, but following one of many sidebar conferences, was not allowed to testify.

In morning testimony, Sgt. Marek underwent further cross-examination by Krawitz. Marek testified that receipts from his forged checks were used to pay Co. A bills.

The first sergeant of the company—now on leave status—said certain equipment and clothing issued would be lost or disappear and check proceeds would be used to make up the losses.

Marek insisted the checks were never due to the men because they failed to attend drills. He admitted payroll records were falsified.

Entered No Contest Plea

Marek has entered a no contest plea to charges he forged checks, issued false statements and used the mails to defraud. He will be sentenced later.

Indications are the trial will go into next week, as Atty. Krawitz has several witnesses to call, including Schoonover.

Deadline Nears For Feed Signup

"DON'T think it over too long," is the word passed along to feed grain producers by Donald Reish, chairman, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation County Committee. He reminds growers who are interested in taking part in the 1963 feed grain program that filing an "intention-to-participate" form at their Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation County Office is a necessary first step, and the sign-up period extends only through March 22.

This gives farmers only a few weeks longer in which to make up their minds about 1963 production plans.

The chairman reports that farmer interest is high in Monroe County. Indications are that 1963 participation will run well ahead of that under last year's feed grain program.

Minimum diversion under the 1963 program is 20 per cent of the individual farm's total feed grain base. For diverting more than the minimum acreage from feed grain production into a conserving use, the diversion payment will be figured at a higher rate.

Price-Support
Besides the diversion payments available through participation in the feed grain program, participating farmers also qualify for a special price-support payment on the normal production of the acreage planted to feed grains in 1963, and they are also eligible to put their crop under the regular price-support loans or purchase agreements. If the farmer wishes, a part of the diversion payment may be made in advance.

Reish points out that participation in the feed grain program not only saves the farmer the costs of planting and harvesting acreages of unneeded feed grains while guaranteeing a substantial income from his diverted acres, but it also increases the conservation of the Nation's cropland, continues the reduction of government feed grain stocks, and saves dollars for taxpayers by reducing the costs of storage, shipping, and handling the government-owned grains.

Commonwealth's New Phone Numbering To Start Sunday

COMMONWEALTH Telephone Company's preparation for change in the telephone numbering system for Portland and Saylorburg subscribers is nearing completion. The change to seven figures is scheduled for 2:01 A. M., Sunday.

A. W. Ryder, Commonwealth's District Manager, said the numbers will change very little—the main change being a substitution of numbers for letters. When the new numbers go into operation here Sunday, TW 7-6667 will change to 897-6667 and WY 2-6273 will change to 902-6273.

All-number calling, Ryder explained, has several advantages over the two-letter, five-figure system. Scientific tests have proved that seven-figure numbers can be dialed faster and more accurately than letters and numerals, since there is no "switching of attention" between the letters and the numbers on a dial.

"With the new system, you just forget the letters on the dial," said Ryder. "There's no confusion between the number '0' and the letter 'O' — or between the letter 'I' and the number '1.' Dialing is simpler and easier all around."

More To System
"But there's more to the new system," he continued. "Compared with the letter-plus-number system, seven-figure numbers increase by almost 50 per cent the quantity of telephone numbers possible with seven turns of the dial. This is because some of the available letter combinations just won't fit any central office name telephone people can think of."

"Take '5-5' for example," Ryder said. "The dial letters associated with that combination are J, K and L." "Try and come up with a good name beginning with two of those letters!"

The seven-figure system avoids these limitations and makes all dial combinations usable as telephone numbers.

Eventually, according to Ryder, when all telephones have the seven-figure system, it will be possible to remove the letters from the dial completely. This will improve legibility of the numbers on the instrument, and lead to the design of miniaturized telephones and other equipment for the phone system of the future.

"All-number calling will also pave the way for other improvements," Ryder said. "It will help bring national and international direct dialing of long distance calls, direct radio dialing, expanded and improved services for businessmen, and other advancements that telephone scientists and engineers are working on right now."

To make the change on Sunday, technicians in the local telephone building have been working for weeks. The new arrangements will not be put to use until the moment of the changeover at which time subscribers are urged to begin using the new seven-digit number which is listed in the new Bangor directory.

Potential Tax Revenues In E-Burg Seen Greater

KING W. BEERS, executive director of the Monroe County Redevelopment Authority, yesterday issued a statement in which he compared present and potential real estate tax revenues in East Stroudsburg for the two urban renewal projects being considered in the borough.

Beers' statement follows:

"Much has been said about the increase in real estate tax revenue to the borough and school district which should result from the two Urban Renewal or Redevelopment Projects which are under consideration by the Borough of East Stroudsburg."

"This is, and should be, a matter of great interest to all taxpayers of the borough. With the costs of labor and materials steadily going up there are only two ways that can be followed to keep our tax bills from going up."

"The first is to cut down on the services furnished by the borough, reduce our police force, don't plow the streets after snow storms, etc. We don't want any of this method. The other way is to provide attractive space and conditions so that stores or industries will erect structures which will pay much more real estate taxes than the sub-standard structures they replace."

"It is, of course, impossible at this stage of the game to arrive at figures down to the last cent. But by being conservative and using figures from actual examples in our own area, we can reach conclusions which should actually be safely below the final figures, yet prove the point."

"In this analysis the present occupation and per capita taxes are ignored since they are relatively much smaller, and the displaced persons in these areas would still pay them unless they moved out of the borough.

Easiest To Examine

"The Courtland St. Project is the easiest to examine in this manner, since we already have customers for the whole area. The Post Office Department wants space for a new and much larger Post Office and a supermarket wants the remainder."

"This area now contains 21 structures of which 14 or two-thirds are deficient or sub-standard. This means that the area is depreciating and becoming eligible for lower tax assessments, resulting in a higher tax burden on the rest of the borough."

"From official tax assessment records we find that the total assessment on all property in this area is $48,500. At 17 mills tax rate this gives a total present real estate tax return to the borough of $824.50."

"Now let us see what the new Post Office and a supermarket should bring in the way of borough real estate taxes."

"The Post Office will be a privately owned property, leased to the government, and will pay taxes the same as any other non-government property."

"The building size given us is — single story, approximately 20,000 square feet, (not including loading platforms, sheds, etc.) 20,000 square feet at a cost of $15 per square foot gives us an appraised value of $300,000, or an assessed value for taxing purposes of $105,000."

"At a real estate tax rate of 17 mills on the assessed value we arrive at a tax return to the borough of $1,785, which is over twice the present real estate return from this whole area."

"To see what the supermarket will bring in, let's take the assessed figures of the Acme Store out on Route 611, just outside Stroudsburg. This example is used since the land area and building size are similar and being in this area the appraisal values should be comparable."

"From the county assessor's office we learn that the assessed value of the Acme Store and land (not including the John's Store portion) is $91,630. At 17 mills on the dollar we get a figure of $1,557.71 for borough real estate tax."

"Adding the expected Post Office and supermarket taxes we get a total figure of $3,342.71 as a conservative estimate of what this project should return in real estate taxes to the borough. Actually, it will undoubtedly be greater, but a return of over four times the present return should be enough to prove the value of the renewal project of the borough."

No Data As Yet

"To arrive at similar figures for the Lincoln Ave. Project at this state of the program is not possible since, while we do have commitments for three sizeable tracts in the area, we do not have any data as yet as to building sizes and costs."

"There are about nine times as many usable acres in that tract as there are in the Courtland St. Project. Suppose, to be extra conservative, we assume that we get only five times (instead of nine) the real estate tax out of this larger area than we figured above should result in the smaller Courtland St. Project."

"This would give us a real estate tax return to the Borough of approximately $17,000 or over 6.7 times the present total borough real estate tax of $2,518.98 from the whole area."

"To sum up, these two Urban Renewal Projects should ultimately (at the present 17 mill rate) return to the borough at least $20,342 per year. This is almost equivalent to the return from a three mill increase in real estate tax for the whole borough."

"If we add this $20,342 borough tax return to the corresponding school district tax, at a 48 mill rate of approximately $57,000, we arrive at the total figure of over $77,000 in revenue, which will be available for increased costs, without raising your and my taxes."

"Isn't this worth working for?"

Two Injured In Wayne Accident

Bus Strike Settlement Hopes Dim

There appeared to be little hope yesterday for an early resumption of negotiations in the strike which has idled operations of Frank Martz Coach Co., Inc., for nearly four months.

The firm services stops in the Pocono Mountains.

The position both management and Division 1119, Amalgamated Association of Street Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employees, appears unchanged since they broke off contract talks—reportedly deadlocked over the basic issue of wage rates.

Federal Mediator C. Stanley Clevenger, of Scranton, who set up a renewal of negotiations on Feb. 5, has indicated he will be available to bring representatives of management and the union together again when they are ready to resume talks. Neither side has indicated recently it is ready to revive negotiations.

Nearly 100 union members, including drivers, mechanics, porters, clerks and ticket agents, struck last Nov. 6 over failure to obtain a new contract.

Backfiring Subsidy

For years now, when criticisms have been leveled at farm control and subsidy programs, tobacco has been cited as "proof" that such plans can work. Sure, said the farm planters, we haven't quite hit on the formula for wheat, cotton, milk or feed grains yet, but look at tobacco.

It's time for another look. The history of the tobacco program is that it looked good at the outset, and the farmers like it. As time wore on, however, acreage allotments have been cut back time and again. Partly this was due to greater production on the smaller acreage, but partly it came about because more farmers flocked into the price-supported business and old growers were cut back to accommodate growers who hadn't been interested until prices were guaranteed by the Government.

There was muttering among the farmers before this year, but now it is the Government that is muttering, and tobacco buyers are joining the chorus.

In their efforts to get more tobacco from less acreage at less cost, farmers have taken to using a chemical which inhibits the growth of "sprouts"—unwanted branchings off the tobacco plant. These used to be pinched off by hand.

Under the price program, tobacco is tobacco. The chemically-treated tobacco comes to market, but the commercial buyers aren't interested. Smokers don't like the stuff, even though they don't know what's the matter with it.

So the government surplus stocks of tobacco rise, while the quality goes down and the long-lauded tobacco program is at last in trouble. Meanwhile, American tobacco prices have encouraged growing of the crop abroad so that markets for this export crop have shrunk.

There goes the Agriculture Department's prize exhibit program, and with it Government's last tenable claim that it knows how to manage production.

Opinions Of Other Editors

Traffic Safety Program

The program that was a shining model for other states and the outstanding accomplishment of the Democratic Lawrence Administration is off to a sad and dismal start in the Republican Scranton regime.

Nobody knows for sure where the Governor stands on the traffic safety program. He won't say—in specifics. His Secretary of Revenue talks about "leniency," and some of the legislators go a lot further than this. They've introduced various bills designed to gut the daylight out of the program—notably by restoring the old political fix of "restricted" licenses.

Now, on top of all this, the Scranton Administration has plunged the Bureau of Highway Safety into the spoils system. The Governor has named a long-time politician and a county Republican chairman, who is a trucking firm operator to boot, to preside over enforcement of the traffic safety program as Assistant Director of Highway Safety.

This is the same man who presided over this bureau in the free and easy days of the Republican Fine Administration in the early 1950s, when Pennsylvania had a traffic safety program that didn't amount to a hill of beans.

"Restricted" licenses were a dime a dozen. Convicted violators of the law, whose driver's licenses were suspended, only had to contact their legislators, or county chairmen, or the nearest friendly Republican ward leader.

Democratic Governor Leader changed all this, and Democratic Governor Lawrence strengthened the traffic safety program even more. They supported—to the hilt—the nonpolitical, qualified and courageous Commissioner of Traffic Safety, O.D. (Mike) Shipley, in the constant warfare with politicians and favor-seekers.

Governor Scranton has yet to fill Mr. Shipley's position.

What eventually will happen, we wouldn't hazard to guess. We only can hope. And off the performance of the Scranton Administration to date on this front, our hope is somewhat battered and bent. So, alas, is the traffic safety program.

Passing Of The Tail Fin

When Harvard economist John Kenneth Galbraith, now our Ambassador to India, returns to this country from New Delhi, I wonder what he will make of things?

Before he left our shores he was one of the most vociferous critics of the way the U.S. "affluent society" (the phrase was his own inspired bit of coinage) was spending its superfluous money. Dr. Galbraith was particularly severe on the "waste" that was going into tail fins on automobiles.

Well, the other day I looked at the street in a typical middle-sized American community, and I had to search a long way before I found a single tail fin. The rear ends of almost all the newer automobiles had become nicely rounded and quite inconspicuous. Whatever it is that affluent people are buying nowadays, it is not cars with the Detroit equivalent of the poon deck of an eighteenth century frigate.

Personally, I wonder what has been gained by the change in style? There seem to be only three things you can do with the rear end of an automobile; you either flare it up to give it fins, or flatten it out to resemble the flight deck of an aircraft carrier, or give it a soft contour to suggest that it won't hurt you very much if it backs into you.

But no matter what is done to it, you may be sure that the style will not be permanent. People get bored seeing the same thing year after year.

The gaudiness of the tail fin may have been in doubtful taste, but when gaudiness is in the ascendency you may be sure that people are enjoying themselves. Was England any happier when the high ruffs and doublets worn by the Elizabethans gave way to the sombre Puritan garb of dictator Oliver Cromwell's time?

Is the severely "functional" modern house any easier to live in than the commodious mansions favored by the Victorians? No, gaudiness and gingerbread, whatever their esthetic drawbacks, are the sure signs of a certain exuberance—and that is always to be prized.

As for the economic "waste" involved in tail fins, I once asked a Chrysler Company economist to make an estimate for me of the amount of money the manufacturers might have saved if they had shaved down the after-decks of their cars.

He promised he'd try to find out. But he never got a figure that was worth anything. He got lost in the question of material costs versus status symbol advertising values, and the whole thing was an arithmetical muddle.

While I could personally take a tail fin or leave it, I suspect that the criticism of the upswep rear end was always motivated by a Puritanism that frowned on enjoyment for its own sake. The "new" economists are the only real Puritans among us, and their criticism has always been quite wide of the mark in post-World War II America, where larger—and more costly—families mean that there is little "disposable income" left after taxes for "waste."

In 1959, the very year that Galbraith was fulminating against "waste" in Detroit, the after-tax income of the American people was $336 billion. Some $252 billion of this happened to be lavished on such "wasteful" things as food, shelter, clothing and basic transport. The remaining $84 billion was spent in a most commonsensical way.

Some $24 billion was saved, $19 billion went for doctors, medicine and hospitals, more than $8 billion was spent on education at private schools and colleges and for churches and private welfare institutions, $17 billion was paid in fees and interest to banks and installment credit companies—and the remainder went for fun, including serious reading and gardening.

Well, if $16 billion out of a total after-tax income of $336 billion is to be condemned as "frivolity," then life is hardly worth the living. Not even the Pilgrims of Miles Standish's time, who stuffed the m'selves on Thanksgiving Day, would have considered it "waste" to spend less than a twentieth of their income on enjoyment.

Since the tail fin is now demonstrably on its way out, what will our Puritanical "liberals" seize upon next as the target for their ire? And isn't it a little bit laughable that the only big victory of these Puritanical liberals has been won over the inoffensive hind end of an automobile?

The Pennsylvania Story

Zero On Capitol Scoreboard!

By Mason Denison

Harrisburg — Reporter's Notebook:

Beginning A New Month — Today, March 1, marks the beginning of another month for the Scranton Administration and Pennsylvania's 1963 Legislature — the beginning of the third calendar month for both, with the scoreboard of activity resting at just about zero!

Since assuming office in January the administration has moved hardly a foot other than within the confines of strictly internal "readjustment" — and this for the most part concerned with political organization, programming and administration. The question most frequently asked around Capitol Hill: What ever happened to the great Scranton program of campaign days for bringing economic prosperity and jobs to Pennsylvania — which the Governor planned to tackle "the day after the election?"

Insofar as any finalized legislative action is concerned, little has been done other than approve the bill covering cost of the Governor's inauguration. Fundamentally legislative leaders are still awaiting the bulk of the administration's legislative program!

Off To The Races — The 1963 Legislature this week ran through another "short" two-day session.

Has a similar "ban" been placed in effect by the Scranton Administration here in Harrisburg? . . . The answer is — no, not so far at least. . . . Illustrating the point was the reception held earlier in the week at a downtown hotel by the Governor and Mrs. Scranton for members of the Legislature (a biennial affair).

As usual, formal invitations were sent to accredited members of the Capitol Hill press corps and their wives, not only mingled with the lawmakers but with the Governor and Mrs. Scranton as well.

It should be noted in passing however that there is a slight difference between Harrisburg and Washington on this "social coverage" score. . . . Here in Harrisburg there are about a score of accredited newsmen in the corps — as compared with several hundred on the Washington scene. . . . In Washington it often could well be a case of more newsmen than guests!

Deadline Of The Week — For those candidates seeking public office (local) this year if they don't have the required signatures on their nominating petitions by now — don't forget about it. . . . Tuesday, February 26 was the first day for legally securing such nominating petition signatures — but you have only until March 18, the last day for securing the petition signs, the State Elections Bureau cautions.

The Allen-Scott Report

Chinese Missile Sites May Intensify Red Split

By Robert S. Allen and Paul Scott

Washington—That highly publicized but questionable split between Moscow and Peking hasn't stopped Soviet Premier Khrushchev from sending a thousand ground-to-air missiles to Communist China.

This secret Russian help in building up Red China's air defense was uncovered by U.S. reconnaissance satellites and surveillance planes flying over strategic areas of China in recent missions.

Twenty - one separate SA-2, ground-to-air missile sites similar to those that the Soviets are now operating in Cuba, have been photographed so far by high-flying U-2 planes and Samos satellites.

At each of these SAM sites, the reconnaissance cameras spotted anywhere from 40 to 60 missiles and their telltale launchers.

This alarming missile discovery was the direct result of a systematic surveillance program launched last September by the Air Force after a Formosa-based U-2 plane was shot down by the Chinese Communists while flying over the mainland.

This unexpected show of power by the Chinese Communists, which brought to an end the hit and miss U-2 surveillance flights over the mainland, convinced U. S. intelligence officials that Khrushchev had turned his first SA-2 missiles over to Mao.

This suspicion was fully confirmed a week later when a specially launched Samos satellite, passing over the same area, took the first photos of one of these SAM bases in China.

Since this Samos mission rocked the U. S. intelligence community, another 20 sites have been located scattered along China's vast Eastern seacoast and near the largest and most important inland military bases. Also, the U.S. learned from other sources that these missile sites were constructed by Soviet military technicians.

Taking Another Look—This latter discovery along with the missile findings has touched off a sharp debate among the President's chief advisers over the accuracy of government policy estimates of the Sino-Soviet dispute.

One group, headed by Director John McCone, of the Central Intelligence Agency, is using the new intelligence to challenge the State Department's policy assessment that there is a deep split between China and Russia.

While recognizing the existence of ideological differences between Khrushchev and Mao, the McCone group argues that the Soviet missile assistance clearly indicates that the two Communist leaders are working closely together in building a military machine to oppose the U.S.

The other group, headed by Dr. Walter Rostow, chairman of the State Department Planning Commission, contends that "the antagonisms between Moscow and Peking are so deep-seated that we cannot foresee any genuine reconciliation of the dispute, at least while Mao and Khrushchev hold power."

They contend that the Soviet missile help to China is inconclusive and that the delivery of MIG-21 interceptors (only six) to India by the Kremlin is counter-proof that there is a deep split.

President Kennedy is reportedly undecided which of the two clashing views to follow in his policy making, although in the past he has leaned toward the Rostow group, which includes McGeorge Bundy, his special foreign policy adviser in the White House.

New Club Member?—Within 600 miles of where the Soviet Union tests its atomic bombs in Siberia, the Chinese Communists may have touched off their first nuclear explosion on the roof of the world.

This suspected atomic test, reported out of India early in February but not confirmed, may have taken place in early January at the same time the Russians were winding up their latest series of nuclear explosions.

Reliable Japanese sources with contacts on the China mainland reported to U.S. intelligence in Tokyo last month that the Chinese Reds detonated a very low grade nuclear device in the northwest corner of Chang Tung province on the great Plateau of Tibet.

According to this Japanese report, one of their Chinese contacts actually witnessed the explosion, including the formation of the mushroom cloud. Previous information from China furnished by this source has checked out to be very accurate.

One theory for the Chinese Communist silence is that if they did explode a low-grade nuclear device they would keep that quiet until the first full-scale bomb is tested—an event Peking is expected to announce to the entire world.

DEAR ABBY: I have an aunt who is a 36-year-old perpetual husband-hunter. She saw a man who works with me. She liked his looks and asked me to introduce her to him. He said he was unmarried so I saw no harm in it. Well, he asked her for a date and she fell for him hard. She saw him night and day and even went on week-end trips with him. When she pressed for marriage, he told her he had a wife from whom he was only separated because his religion wouldn't sanction divorce. My aunt is broken-hearted and her whole family is blaming me for this mess. Was it MY fault?

GOOD INTENTIONS DEAR GOOD: When a man tells you he is unmarried, you have a right to assume he is. You were responsible for introducing them, period. If a 36-year-old "husband-hunter" wants to play the game, it's time she learned the game laws.

DEAR ABBY: If your husband came home with the odor of perfume on his shoulder, which you have none of, would you assume he had been close enough to someone to have had the odor rub off on him? Or would you say he had to have someone's head on his shoulder?

READY TO FILE DEAR READY: HE could be innocent. The head on YOUR shoulder is the one you have to worry about. Don't lose it.

DEAR ABBY: A couple of months ago I attended a big church wedding and reception. The bride wore a beautiful white gown and veil. Six months later the bride gave birth to a nine-pound baby boy, so I know she must have been expecting at the time of the wedding. They tell me that this is being done all the time. Is this true, or am I behind the times?

JOAN DEAR JOAN: You are NOT behind the times. Some babies are ahead of their times.

6 Monroe Attorneys On State Groups

HARRISBURG — Six Monroe County attorneys have been appointed to committees of the Pennsylvania Bar Association by the newly elected president of the PBA, Desmond J. McTigue, Norristown.

McTigue, who took office at the close of the association's recent 65th annual meeting in Pittsburgh, made a total of nearly 800 appointments, to more than 50 Bar Committees.

"While it might be assumed that most of these committees are concerned with purely Bar Association matters," he observed, "the actual fact is that the reverse is true. Approximately two-thirds of all of the working committees and sections in the Pennsylvania Bar Association are engaged in some form of service to the public."

A new feature of the committee appointments this year, McTigue said, is the assignment of two Junior Bar members to each committee as associate members — a move intended to draw the younger members of the bar into more active participation in the Association's activities.

Appointees from Monroe County are: Kenneth Lewis, East Stroudsburg, Project Constitution Subcommittee on Amendment and Revision; and Committee on Legal Biography and History; and the following all from Stroudsburg: Alexander L. Bensinger, Project Constitution Subcommittee on Taxation and State Finance; Detlef A. Hansen, Project Constitution Subcommittee on Public Officers, Militia and Local Government; Edwin Krawitz, Project Constitution Subcommittee on the Judiciary; George T. Robinson, Project Constitution Subcommittee on Education; and Arlington W. Williams, Committee on Service to the Public.

Cub Pack 89 Holds Blue, Gold Fete

CANADENSIS — Awards were made at the annual Blue and Gold Banquet of Cub Pack 89, Barrett, Saturday, at the Canadensis Moravian Church.

William Kintzel, award chairman, presented a one year star to Jimmy Hewlings. Gold stars were awarded to Jimmy Hewlings, David Reisenwitz and Jimmy Hay. Jimmy Hay and Jimmy Lewis received silver arrows. Gary Reinhardt, Stephen Decker and David Absolon received wolf badges. Jimmy Smith received a bobcat pin.

Opening ceremonies were led by Stephen Decker, the pledge of allegiance, and James Lewis, the Cub Scout Promise. Rev. Nathaniel Albee gave the invocation.

John Nauman, cubmaster, acted as master of ceremonies and introduced guests of honor. Present were the Scouting commissioner, Harry Rider; district scout executive, William Vincent and Mrs. Vincent; Roy Seams and Rev. and Mrs. Albee.

In informal remarks, Vincent said he was pleased with the progress and membership of the pack and commended the leaders for their work. He said he would become supervisor of Monroe County at the end of March and the "Scouting in Action Fair" sponsored by the Delaware Valley Area Council will be held in the spring.

Two Derbys

The fair will include a Space Derby and Pinewood Derby. He closed remarks by reading the poem, "That Boy."

The den leaders were introduced by Nauman and congratulated for their efforts. Leaders of Den 1 are Marian Styk and Joyce Wilson; Den 2, Peggy Lewis and Josephine Williams; Den 3, Verna Wagner and Esther Pickett.

Kathryn Reinhardt and Naomi Reisenwitz are leaders of Den 4 and Jack Shumaker and William Pickett, assistant cubmaster, are leaders of Webelos Den.

The theme for March will be "Around the U. S. A." Nauman said and the pack questions will concern General George Washington.

The Cub Scouts were reminded that they are each responsible for obtaining two donors for the forthcoming blood drive. The goal was set by the pack.

The film, "Hearts of Men," shown by Roy Seams, depicted the work done by Shriners Hospitals for Crippled Children without regard to race, creed or color. The film underlined the basic needs and care and erased fears and anxieties from the Cub Scouts minds in relation to hospitals and surgery. The motto, "Strong legs run so weak legs can walk," was the theme of the film.

Cubmaster Nauman congratulated the Pack Committee members for their work in the past year. He cited Donald Hewlings, William Kintzel, Thomas Lewis, LeRoy Shoemith, Robert Reinhardt and Mrs. Frank Grab, newly appointed public relations chairman.

Banquet Committee

Members of the banquet committee were also congratulated. Mrs. John Styk, Mrs. Robert Reinhardt and Mrs. Paul Reisenwitz were responsible for the blue and gold streamers and balloons and marshmallow trees which decorated the room.

The meeting closed with group singing of "Good Night Cub Scouts," and benediction by Rev. Albee.

Now Is The Time To Plan Your Home Building And Repairs

Plumbing Booklet Offered

THE BASIS of all plumbing is piping. The piping system of a building may be compared to the veins and arteries of the human body. It is invisible, it does its work quietly and efficiently, yet it is absolutely necessary to the physical well-being of the occupants of a building.

It is important that all piping be adequate in diameter, durable, leakproof, that all joints be tight, and that the piping be pitched or slanted so that it can be drained.

These and many other suggestions on the efficient planning of the household plumbing system are offered in a booklet entitled "What You Should Know About Plumbing." The booklet is available from the Plumbing-Heating-Cooling Information Bureau, 35 East Wacker Drive, Chicago 1, Illinois. The price of the booklet is 10 cents a copy.

TWO LAVATORIES IN BATHROOMS

A growing trend toward two lavatories in bathrooms is noted by the Plumbing-Heating-Cooling Information Bureau. Two bowls sunk in a long counter add greatly to the usefulness of the bathroom and speed traffic during the morning and evening rush hours. Bowls made especially for installation in counters are available in a variety of attractive colors.

The House Of The Week

Construction Leaves Room For Luxuries

By JULES LOH

YOU'D never know it by glancing at it from the street, or even by inspecting it closely inside and out, but our house today is intended for folks with a problem budget — and that's just about everybody.

Specifically, architect Rudolph A. Matern designed this three-bedroom house for couples who expect both their families and their incomes to get considerably larger as the years go by, but right now have only two or three kids and an equally modest bank balance.

The house is constructed essentially around a basic frame using standard lumber lengths and a simple down-the-center main steel girder.

The savings in this elementary type of structure enabled Matern to add features which give it striking curb appeal (as the developers refer to an interesting and tasteful exterior) as well as tailor made comfort inside — without taking it out of the economy category.

Some of these extra benefits include:

—A 12-foot bow window in the front, adding glamor to the formal entertaining area and charm to the exterior facade.

—A 90-degree curved staircase with an open balcony, which is an unusual and dramatic touch in any home, especially one this size.

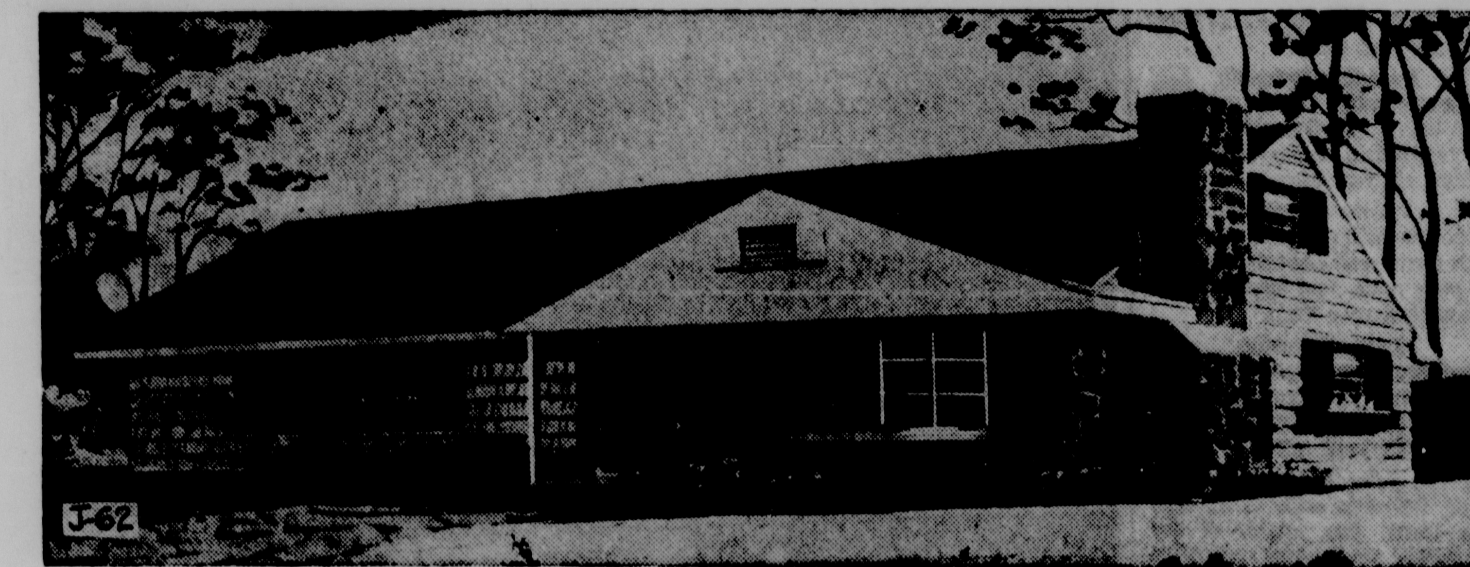

—A curved wall in the kitchen, different enough to prevent any drabness in this important area no matter how else it's furnished.

—A four-foot-wide log burning fireplace in the living room.

—Recessed front and rear terraces for weather protection.

—A gracious entrance foyer of elaborate proportions and equipped with a damage proof flagstone floor.

But clearly the biggest economical advantage of the house is a second floor expansion of 804 square feet, enough room to add two more huge bedrooms and a second full bath. The extra rooms can be built as they become necessary, and much of

ROOM TO GROW IN: This one and one-half model has three bedrooms on the main floor plus an 804-square foot upstairs expansion which adds two more bedrooms. For all its space and glamorous looks, a basic frame and standard lumber lengths allow it to remain in the economy category.

the finishing work done by a handy husband. For all of its luxury-house niceties and abundance of space, the basic area of the home is only 1,316 square feet and its over-all dimensions a neat fifty feet, four inches wide by twenty-seven feet, nine inches deep.

Additional Details

The exceptionally large upstairs rooms are the result of a 38-foot dormer across the back. The ceilings are full height and flat, not the head-bumping side-wall splay usually found in one-and-one-half story homes.

Both the upstairs rooms have adjoining alcoves for dressing, homework, hobbies or storage. The design of the bathroom — both bathrooms, for that matter — is both different and utilitarian. They have broad counter tops and plenty of room; upstairs there is an angled tub, and the downstairs bath has twin lavatories.

If it's possible for a large family to have an over supply of closets and storage space, this house plainly has it. No room is lacking, and even the service closets — upstairs and downstairs linen closets and the coat closet in the foyer — are well proportioned. There is additional storage space in the cellar, of course.

Another nice feature of this house is the location of the laundry. It is next to the kitchen, convenient for a busy housewife, and also near the bedroom wing so there's no unnecessary hauling.

The formal area of the house stretches 18 feet in one direction and more than 26 feet in the other, a spacious ell with points of interest in every direction — window, fireplace, foyer and sliding doors leading to the rear dining terrace.

The rear service entry is directly opposite the front entrance, which presents an uncomplicated flow of traffic to all parts of the house without any room being used as a passageway.

In short, the house is pleasing to look at as well as to live in, and solves the knotty problem of how to get a large family into a basically small and inexpensive area.

J-62 STATISTICS

A one and one-half story house with three bedrooms and one bath on the main level and upstairs expansion room for two more bedrooms and second full bath. Basic house contains 1,316 square feet in over-all dimensions of fifty feet, four inches wide by 27 feet, nine inches deep. Upstairs expansion adds 804 square feet.

Ninety-eight per cent of American homes are wired for electricity.

GLAMOR ON A BUDGET: A 90-degree curved staircase with an open balcony, and a flagstone floor, enhance the gracious entrance foyer in this modest home. Living room is at right; door at left opens to hallway leading to kitchen and rear service entry.

FLOOR PLANS: A 38-foot dormer across the rear allows the upstairs rooms to be exceptionally large and to have full height, flat ceilings. The upstairs expansion adds 804 square feet to the basic house size of 1,316 square feet. Note the abundance of closets, and the large counter tops in bathrooms and kitchen.

Mud Room Popular With Younger Set

"The room I couldn't do without."

This is the way in which many a homemaker, after moving into a new house, has described her sentiments about the mud room.

Other homemakers have called it the most indispensable room and the room that does more than any other room to save work.

What is the mud room?

It's a bathroom or cleaning up room for the children located near the rear entrance or near the outdoor terrace.

Only it isn't just for the children. Dad appreciates it, too, after working in the yard or around the car.

It's a room for the children to wash up and change their clothes before coming in after a hard day outdoors. That's when the mud room saves a lot of wear and tear and cleaning up.

The typical mud room has a lavatory, a water closet, and a cabinet type of shower, says the Plumbing-Heating-Cooling Information Bureau.

By FRANCIS DRAKE

Friday, March 1, 1963

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) If you leave things until the last minute you will find yourself needlessly rushed and you will not manage to handle your affairs as you should. Don't let yourself get carried away. Avoid extravagance.

April 21 to May 21 (Taurus) — There are tendencies toward sounder and overindulgences now. Also, speaking before you have digested the full import of another's words. Recognize where to spend, when to retrench.

May 22 to June 21 (Gemini) Concentrate on efficiency now. But do not go to extremes. Earnestness is not enough; you must be sure-footed, know requirements, and plan ahead.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) Certain characteristics of this day make it a good one for handling laborious tasks, trying situations, doing what you know how. Two don'ts: Avoid quick answers, opening old wounds.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo) — Plan ahead. If you do not, there will be needless rushed periods later when you would like a little respite. "When to spend and when to spare" will count, too. Attain with ease.

August 24 to October 23 (Virgo) Matters of minor consequence may blow up into a big problem. Don't yield to discontent. Your quicksilver intuition and foresight should be a big help now.

October 24 to November 23 (Libra) — You have a fine defense on certain matters. So take each subject separately and study; if you can't get up one to save your face, make value seems prudent, do not hesitate. Let hands and head cooperate.

November 24 to December 23 (Scorpio) — Choose astutely what you will or will not attempt to do, and stay with essentials all the way. Aspects favor all worthwhile endeavors.

December 24 to January 23 (Sagittarius) — You have a way with you when your better self is out front, which we hope is the case now. This day requires stamina, patience and readiness for the long pull that gives such lasting reward.

January 24 to February 23 (Aquarius) — Perform with your normal dexterity and happy outlook. With belief in your assignment, you can go far, and aid others, too. Domestic duties and work first, then rest. Mixing the order can turn the day topsy-turvy.

February 24 to March 31 (Pisces) Put through hard times, for the good side, cultivate your own fine potential.

YOU BORN TODAY? You strive without compensation where you think the cause worthy; will defend the underprivileged, usually with skill and clever thinking rather than physical force, though you do not shrink from this if warranted. Pleasants make first-rate policemen, negotiators, companions, dressmakers, nurses, historians, librarians, secretaries, home-makers. (But do not care for all the details). You dislike strife, penny-pinching and mistrust, and must turn completely from people who indulge in them. Choose companions who like things you do — of the mind, for the good will bring, and through the heart, where your compassion leads you into the dark corners to bring welcome light. You are intelligent travelers, explorers, bibliophiles, Aquarians, Saint-Germans, Irish-Americans.

March 31 to April 30 (Aries) If you leave things until the last minute you will find yourself needlessly rushed and you will not manage to handle your affairs as you should. Don't let yourself get carried away. Avoid extravagance.

April 31 to May 31 (Taurus) — There are tendencies toward sounder and overindulgences now. Also, speaking before you have digested the full import of another's words. Recognize where to spend, when to retrench.

May 32 to June 31 (Gemini) Concentrate on efficiency now. But do not go to extremes. Earnestness is not enough; you must be sure-footed, know requirements, and plan ahead.

June 32 to July 31 (Cancer) Certain characteristics of this day make it a good one for handling laborious tasks, trying situations, doing what you know how. Two don'ts: Avoid quick answers, opening old wounds.

July 32 to August 31 (Leo) — Plan ahead. If you do not, there will be needless rushed periods later when you would like a little respite. "When to spend and when to spare" will count, too. Attain with ease.

August 32 to September 31 (Virgo) Matters of minor consequence may blow up into a big problem. Don't yield to discontent. Your quicksilver intuition and foresight should be a big help now.

September 32 to October 31 (Libra) — You have a fine defense on certain matters. So take each subject separately and study; if you can't get up one to save your face, make value seems prudent, do not hesitate. Let hands and head cooperate.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 4. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked letters give you.

Heyman, Harkness, Bonham

All-American Team Announced By AP

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Art Heyman of Duke, Ron Bonham of Cincinnati and Jerry Harkness of Chicago Loyola, whose exploits helped their teams to national ranking, top the 1963 college basketball All-American announced Thursday by The Associated Press.

Rounding out the first team are Gary Bradds of Ohio State and Barry Kramer of New York University. Heyman and Harkness are seniors, Bonham, Bradds and Kramer juniors.

Second Team

Two seniors, Rod Thorn of West Virginia and Tom Thacker of Cincinnati, two juniors, Cotton Nash of Kentucky and Walt Hazzard of UCLA, and Princeton's star sophomore, Bill Bradley, make up a second team.

The third team is comprised of Nick Werkman, Seton Hall junior, and four seniors, Tony Yates of Cincinnati, Bill Green of Colorado State University, Eddie Miles of Seattle and Jimmy Rayl of Indiana.

Mel Counts of Oregon State, Ken Charlton of Colorado, Jeff Mullins of Duke, Paul Siles of Creighton and Joe Caldwell of Arizona State University head the honorable mention list. The list also includes George Wilson of Cincinnati, Mack Herndon of Bradley, Dave Stallworth of Wichita, Dave Downey of Illinois and Nate Thurmond of Bowling Green.

Sparked Duke

The 6-foot-5 Heyman, from Rockville Centre, N.Y., sparked the Duke Blue Devils to an unbeaten record in regular season play in the Atlantic Coast Conference. He topped the voting by 183 sports writers and radio-TV broadcasters.

On the basis of five points for a first team vote and two points for a second team nod, Heyman polled 142 firsts and 744 points altogether. Bonham, also 6-5, whose hot shooting helped Cincinnati's National Collegiate champions to another Missouri Valley Conference title, was runner-up in the voting with 132 firsts and 706 points.

Harkness, a "small" 6-2 who sparked Loyola to 21 straight victories was third with 64 firsts and 428 points comfortably ahead of the 6-8 Bradds and the 6-4 Kramer.

The voting was very close after the top three with Bradds, Kramer, Thorn and Nash virtually even at 321, 319, 313 and 307, respectively. Thorn polled 49 first place votes to 47 for each of the other three, but Bradds and Kramer slipped in ahead of him with more second place nods.

Thacker, Hazzard, Bradley and Werkman also were close with 256, 249, 246 and 238 points, respectively. So, too, was the voting on the next level with Rayl getting 167, Miles 162, Green 143, Yates 124 and Counts 118.

Herzog A Realist; Finds Going Slow

By JERRY GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP)—Whitey Herzog is a realist by trade and a realist by habit.

He knows he's not going to break into the Tigers' line-up.

"I'd be tough to play right field on this club," volunteered Herzog, who came to the Tigers in their trade with the Baltimore Orioles.

He spoke out before he could be asked his feelings about coming to a new club that employs Al Kaline in right field.

"I'm just glad to be in the big leagues," said Herzog, "and when I get the chance, I don't play much the last two months with Baltimore, so I'm happy to be with Detroit."

Always Blocked

Having a superstar blocking his chances as a regular has been the story of Herzog's career.

He came up through the New York Yankees' chain as a center fielder. It was during the final seasons Joe DiMaggio was with Yankees.

When Herzog was ready for the majors he found Mickey Mantle in center field as DiMaggio's successor. The Yankees traded him to Washington, where he was a regular one season.

Next Herzog went to Kansas City and found it tough to play right field regularly even with the Athletics. An up-and-coming slugger named Roger Maris was serving his apprenticeship before going to the Yankees.

But Herzog's versatility has made him a valuable bench man.

Says Mets Must Improve

Stengel Hopeful Of Losing 'Fraud' Tag

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. — Casey Stengel has only one aim this year and that is to keep the New York Mets from becoming "a fraud."

"And that's just what we'll be if we don't do better than last year," claims Stengel, who will be 73 in July. Old Case, after a long and brilliant stint as manager of the Yankees, took over the newly formed Mets at their inception last year and found the going "awfully rough."

They won only 40 games while losing 120, finishing 60½ games behind the pennant winning Giants.

"A Long Way"

"I can't see how things can be tougher," Stengel sighed. "On the other hand, I'm not kidding myself. We're a long way from being a representative major league team."

He isn't giving up hope, however.

"Last year at this time we did not know how many, if any, major league players we had on our roster," he pointed out. "At least we're ahead of the game in that respect this year for we know we have a dozen players who belong."

He didn't name them all but as he rambled on for a few thousand words he said that other clubs were bidding for pitchers Al Jackson, Jay Hook and Roger Craig, outfielders Frank Thomas and Jim Hickman and infielder Charlie Neal.

"The clubs that let those players go in the player draft to stock our new club now want 'em back," Stengel explained. "So it turns out they made mistakes when they let them go. But they didn't make enough so far as we are concerned for most of the others we got didn't turn out so good."

Still Hopeful

Stengel still is hopeful of making some deals. He and President George Weiss are on the phone almost every day talking with other clubs.

"I don't suppose we'll get anywhere until we near the end of spring training when the other teams will have a better line on what they need," Weiss said. "But we'll keep trying."

The Mets still would like to get veteran Duke Snider from the Dodgers because they are short of left-handed hitting outfielders. But the Dodgers want Craig in exchange and the Mets want to pay cash.

"We can't afford to trade one of our established players unless we can get two players in return who can play for us every day," explained Weiss.

Alabama Flavor Brought To OSU

STILLWATER, OKLA. (AP) — Phil Cutchin, Oklahoma State's new football coach may not be able to satisfy the fondest dreams of OSU alumni — namely to beat the Oklahoma Sooners — right off the bat, but it won't be because he's lazy.

The 42-year-old former aide to Paul (Bear) Bryant at Alabama has hardly stopped moving since arriving here in mid-January.

Cutchin has spent so much of his first month on campus searching for promising high school football players and assistant coaches, he hasn't even started looking for a place to live. He spent his early days and nights in a men's dormitory.

Alabama Flavor

Cutchin recently completed hiring eight assistant coaches and admits there will be an Alabama flavor at OSU. Seven of the assistants either played or coached with Cutchin under Bryant.

Cutchin played for Bryant at Kentucky in 1946 and joined his teacher on the coaching staff after Korean War service in 1952. He went with Bryant when the latter moved first to Texas A&M, then to Alabama.

Tom Turvey, former Stillwater high school coach, is the only assistant who had not been associated with Cutchin previously. The other assistants are Elwood Kett-

"I'll pick up all the pointers that I can, but there is nothing like going out to find out for yourself—and I hope it's all good."

Hoelt joined the Detroit Tigers as a 19-year-old in 1952 and four years later enjoyed his best winning year with a 20-14 mark for the club.

In 1959 he went from Detroit to Boston to Baltimore. Then last winter the Giants traded Stu Miller and Mike McCormick for Hoelt and right-handed Jack Fisher.

Completing the transaction, John Orsino traveled to Baltimore and Jim Coler to the Giants in a switch of reserve catchers.

THE FIFTH annual Brite Star of the Year banquet will be held at East Stroudsburg State College's dining room, Saturday night, May 11.

The announcement of the affair honoring Pocono State schoolboy and collegiate athletes who were selected for weekly honors was made by Gene and Jimmy Nicolais, owners of the company which sponsors the awards.

The climax of the fete will be the presentation of the Brite Star of the Year trophy to the senior athlete who excelled athletically and academically during the past year.

Former Winners

Former winners of the award are Evan Reese, East Stroudsburg High; Bill Schoonover, Stroud Union; Dick Wolslayer, East Stroudsburg State College; and Robert DelGrosso, Pius X High of Roseto.

Plans are under way to get a topnotch speaker for the affair which will also have as its guests area school principals and coaches.

ter, Willie Zapalac, Charles Bentley, Don Cochran, Jim Stanley, Tom Ellis and Leon Fuller.

Kettler and Fuller, like Cutchin, served as Alabama assistants last season.

Delay Drills

Because of his late start in recruiting, Cutchin plans to hold spring drills as late as possible. Tentative plans are to begin about the middle of April.

Cutchin, who replaced Cliff Speegle as coach here, steps into a situation that could be described at best as touchy.

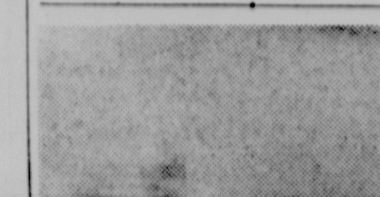

A critical alumni has grown progressively more vocal in the 17 years since the Cowboys last defeated arch-rival Oklahoma. Adding fuel to the flames of discontent caused by the annual losses to the Sooners is the fact that Oklahoma State has put together only six winning seasons during the same period.

Speegle was criticized for not fielding a contender during the Cowboys' first three seasons as members of the Big Eight Conference.

But Cutchin takes the alumni in stride.

"The alumni are always tough when you're losing," he says. "But one sure cure for alumni criticism is to field a winning team. That won't always save a coach — but it cuts down the odds."

In Class 'B' Playoffs

Cards Seek Revenge Against Hiller 'Five'

WITH revenge in their hearts, and their eyes on the basket, Pocono Mountain's Cardinals tonight enter the District 11, Class B playoffs against Fountain Hill in the East Stroudsburg State College Fieldhouse. Game time is 8 p.m.

The battle will be a rematch of last year's struggle between these same two teams when the Hillers edged the Cards of Coach Harry Werkheiser, 50-48, in Bethlehem's Liberty Hall. Fountain Hill scored the winning basket in the last 10 seconds of that contest and went on to capture the title.

Want Revenge

There is no mistake that the Pocono Mountain squad hoped that Fountain Hill would be their opponent again this year. They want revenge for last year. And they have been pointing for this game the last two weeks.

Doors to the gym will be open at 6:45 p.m. A limited number of tickets will be sold at the door starting at 7:45 p.m.

Ralph O. Burrows, chairman of the District 11 PAA, said last night that the advance sale is "very good."

The winner of tonight's clash will go on to meet either Minersville, Nesquehoning or St. Clair for this year's District 11 championship at Harrisburg March 9.

11-3 Record

The Cardinals this season won 14 games while losing only three—a slightly better winning percentage than last season's 15-5 mark in independent competition.

Fountain Hill owned a 9-1 record in Lehigh-Northampton League play. They numbered Wilson Boro twice and Bangor once among their victims. Wilson successfully defended its L-N crown, however, while Bangor had the winningest club in the Slate Belt-Pocono area with a 15-5 record.

Notre Dame, Jim Thorpe and Weatherly were the only teams to conquer Pocono Mountain in this campaign. But in repeat games against both Notre Dame and Jim Thorpe, the Cards gained revenge for both those earlier beatings by gaining a victory. The Cardinals only played Weatherly once.

Topped By Parkland

The only team to beat Fountain Hill in the Lehigh-Northampton League was Parkland, by a 46-42 count. However, in a return match between those two clubs, Fountain Hill emerged the victor by 61-55.

Parkland defeated the Hillers for the southern division title of the L-N in the third meeting between the two schools.

Baseball reached the traditional holdout deadline—March 1—Friday with a dozen major league clubs still haggling with more than a score of players over 1963 salaries.

Only a handful of the athletes were figured to be serious malcontents. Most of them were expected to accept terms as soon as they could conveniently discuss the matter with their bosses.

This created a fluctuating situation, changing almost with the hour.

Three More Sign

Three players signed Thursday, bringing the list of players not under contract to 26, representing eight teams in the American League and four in the National.

The latest signings included infielder Jerry Lumpe of the Kansas City Athletics, first baseman and outfielder Tito Francona of the Cleveland Indians and shortstop Chico Fernandez of the Detroit Tigers.

Lumpe reached an agreement with General Manager Pat Friday of the Athletics five minutes after arriving in Bradenton, Fla., the Kansas City training quarters.

He reportedly got $31,000 but acknowledged he had to settle for much less than he originally demanded. Six members of the Athletics remain unsigned—the largest list in the majors.

Francona, a former first baseman who is to be tried in left field, came to terms in a conference with General Manager Gabe Paul of the Indians at Tucson, Ariz. Francona reportedly got $27,000, leaving only one member of the Indians—Willie Tasby—not in the fold.

Fernandez, signing at Lakeland, Fla., is supposed to have received a good pay increase from the Tigers although the terms of his contract were not divulged. He hit 20 home runs last year.

The Tigers have three of the former holdouts in slugger Rocky Colavito, seeking a big increase over his $52,000 salary in 1962; first baseman Norm Cash, fighting a cut, and pitcher Frank Lary, uncertain about the condition of his pitching arm.

THE girls swimming team of East Stroudsburg State College yesterday lost to the University of Pennsylvania, 38-29, as the Penn mermaids laid claim to five first-place finishes in the seven events.

Only the ESSC 75-yard team of Karen Burke, Mary Hossey and Nancy Turner, and Gail Peichmann in the diving event, finished first for the Warriorettes.

Miss Peichmann had a total of 123 points in the diving meet, while the ESSC medley team won in a time of 50.4.

Taking second-place finishes for the losers were Gwen Schiebel (50-yard freestyle), Mary Hossey (50-yard breaststroke), Gail Davis (50-yard backstroke), and Nancy Turner (50-yard butterfly).

are the main scoring threats for the Hillers, having posted double figures throughout the season. They have been getting good support from backcourtmen Mickey Geiger and George Lovell, and also from their center, Terry Voght. Voght is the big boy on the Hiller quint who handles most of the rebounds.

Ryans Star
For the Cardinals, the famed Ryan twins — Norbert and John—have been the backbone of the Pocono Mountain attack, averaging nearly 40 points a game between them while also hauling in 25 rebounds per game.

Backing this pair are the Cards' backcourt sensation, Dave Ruehlman, along with Ken Phillips. Ruehlman has a 10.5 game scoring average while Phillips has hit for 9.9 per contest. Ron Vican, a six-foot junior, also has been a key rebounder for the team.

Stars Not Signing Baseball Has A Cold War

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

BASEBALL also has its cold war. Called contract negotiations by sensitive major league brass, the annual psychological struggle today finds 29 players still pondering the desks of harried general managers.

Among them are such stars as Rocky Colavito and Norm Cash of Detroit, Orlando Cepeda, Juan Marichal and Jose Pagan of National League champion San Francisco, Baltimore's Brooks Robinson and Norm Siebern and Jerry Lumpe of Kansas City.

With all players due to report to their clubs by today or Friday, it's certain that many will be officially classed holdouts. Only eight teams have completed the signing phase of their operation.

The American League, showing 19 unsigned players on nine clubs, has the biggest headache.

Kansas City has six unsigned—Siebern, Lumpe, outfielder Manny Jimenez, catcher Bill Bryan, pitcher Diego Segui and Dave Wickens and newly acquired outfielder Chuck Essegian.

While Kansas City has the biggest numerical problem, Detroit may have the toughest problem in Colavito, who hit .273 last season while belting 37 homers and driving in 112 runs. Cash, who dropped from a league leading .361 in 1961 to .243 last year, appears to be ready to give in.

Colavito seems headed for a long siege. "The next move is up to him (Tiger General Manager Jim Campbell)," said Colavito, who has been offered a slight increase over his $32,000 salary for 1962. Campbell is adamant, retorting:

"I'm not going to tell him, I said what I have to when we talked for 90 minutes the other day."

The Tigers also must sign pitcher Frank Lary, a move apparently waiting further amplification of the condition of his pitching arm, and shortstop Chico Fernandez.

The world champion New York Yankees and St. Louis Cardinals closed their ledgers Wednesday, joining Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, the Chicago Cubs, Cincinnati and the Los Angeles Dodgers and Angels with players all signed.

The Yanks lured their two big ones into the fold—Mickey Mantle and Roger Maris—while the Cardinals won't give up by signing outfielder Minnie Minoso, catcher Carl Sawatski and pitcher Ed Bauta. Milwaukee signed outfielder Gus Bell.

ARCHIE Roberts, Columbia's sophomore quarterback, completed 12 of 14 passes against Lehigh for 103 yards and a touchdown. Lehigh players voted him the best quarterback they faced this season.

There's nothing in America that typifies the country, and its philosophies, more than the newspaperboy. Call him what you may; newspaperboy, paper carrier or capitalist in sneaks, he stands for America and the "free enterprise" system.

He's a retailer, a salesman, an accountant and a business firm all rolled into one. The newspaperboy earns his own spending money, while providing a valuable service to his community. He learns, at an early age, to be both independent and dependable.

In the newspaperboy, we see responsibility recognized and accepted with the same youthful vitality that has been the backbone of our country since its conception. He is America with freckles, in today's newspaperboy lives tomorrow's America.

Three years ago the 6-foot-6 Negro southpaw led the International League in bases on balls. He walked 119 in 172 innings with Columbus, Ohio.

"But that was three years ago," says Columbus Manager Larry Shepard who has seen more than a dozen of his players make the majors. "In those days Veale was afraid he might kill a batter. He has control now to go with his speed."

Sent Back
Shepard touted Veale last March but the Pirates sent him back to Ohio on May 31. He won eight games and returned to the Pirates after striking out 139 in 134 innings. He walked only 71. His Pirate record for both shutouts was 22 but he got 42 strikeouts in 46 innings. His last win, last fall, was a great three-hitter against Milwaukee.

"He sure can fire that ball," insists Shepard. "He's got four pitches — great fast ball, real good curve, a fine change up and his biggest pitch now is control."

Still Wild
"In 1960 he couldn't get the ball over the plate. He was throwing it over the backstop. In our (Columbus) spring camp at Jacksonville he was still wild.

One time before a game he was throwing strikes. In the ball game he was all over the place. In the middle of the first inning I pulled him out, got a catcher and took Veale to the bullpen. He began throwing strikes again.

"I put a dummy batter up in the bullpen and Veale began throwing balls again. It was a mental block. 'Don't be afraid,' I told him. 'You won't hit the batter.'"

"That's what bothers me," said Veale. "If I hit a batter I might kill him."

"He was pitching to the hitters and we got him to pitch to his catcher. It made all the difference in the world."

Veale turned 27 a month after he pitched that three-hitter in Milwaukee. The son of a man who pitched to the great Josh Gibson Veale has great potential even though he wears glasses. He is a trim 212 pounds and a fair hitter who bats either way. He was a star athlete at St. Benedict's College in Atchison, Kan., and comes from Birmingham.

In a semi-pro game he once fanned 22 batters. In 1959 he pitched a no-hitter for Wilson, N.C.

Shepard has been high on Veale since 1961, and with good reason. He pitched three shutouts in a row that year for Columbus and led the International League in strikeouts with 208 in 201 innings. He won 14 and his earned run mark was 2.55.

The Pirates have only steady second baseman Bill Mazeroski back for them in the outfield. They were second division in scoring runs and hitting home runs last year. However, they finished fourth, only eight games back, and their pitching staff led the league with a 3.38 ERA.

Hartack's first victory at Louisville came aboard Calumet Farm's Iron Lige who beat Gallant Man, Round Table and Bold Ruler in 1957. It was his second ride. In 1959 he was unplaced with Spring Hill Farm's Easy Spur. Hartack won in 1960 when Venetian Way beat Bally Ache. Last year the

Short Span
No other rider has gained as many as three Derby wins in five rides, or in such a short span as five years.

Isaac Murphy, first jockey to win the Derby three times, gained his third win 14 years after his first appearance. It was his 10th mount. Earl Sande's third victory came 12 years after he rode American Eagle in 1918. His third winner was his sixth Derby mount. Eddie Arcaro's third Derby success came with his sixth mount. It was 10 years after he rode in his first classic.

Hartack says the Derby is no more important than any other race. However, before he hangs up his tack he could easily surpass the five Derby successes of Eddie Arcaro. The Master achieved his record total in his 13 tries.

No other rider has gained as many as three Derby wins in five rides, or in such a short span as five years.

Isaac Murphy, first jockey to win the Derby three times, gained his third win 14 years after his first appearance. It was his 10th mount. Earl Sande's third victory came 12 years after he rode American Eagle in 1918. His third winner was his sixth Derby mount. Eddie Arcaro's third Derby success came with his sixth mount. It was 10 years after he rode in his first classic.

Hartack says the Derby is no more important than any other race. However, before he hangs up his tack he could easily surpass the five Derby successes of Eddie Arcaro. The Master achieved his record total in his 13 tries.

native of Colver, Pa., surprised with a victory astride Decidedly, a colt that never again won a stake during 1962.

Hartack didn't have a mount in the 1961 race, won by famed Carry Back. However, Carry Back could have been his Derby mount but for an incident the previous fall. Hartack had begged off riding the Jack Price colt after the horse was tardy leaving the stall gate at Belmont Park.

Dramatic Reading Slated At Barrett Lenten Service

CANADENSIS — The dramatic reading, "The Scarlet Lily," will be presented at the third and final Barrett Community Lenten Service Sunday at 7:30 p.m. in the Canadensis Methodist Church.

Madalyn Maloney will give the three-part presentation which first depicts the early life of Mary Magdalene prior to her meeting with Christ.

The second portion reveals Mary's awareness of Christ and His influence in her life. The final chapter tells of Mary's attempts to win freedom for Christ in Herod's court.

The service is sponsored by the Barrett Council of Churches with the Mountainhome Methodist, Canadensis Methodist and Canadensis Moravian Churches cooperating.

Prior to the reading, Madalyn Maloney will be the guest of the congregation at a family night supper in the church social hall at 5:45 p.m. Mrs. Herbert Larsen is in charge of arrangements.

Rev. John D. O'Neill, pastor of the Canadensis Methodist Church, will give the invocation and benediction.

Rev. William Relyea MacLachlan, pastor of the Mountainhome Methodist Church, and Rev. Nathaniel Albee, pastor of the Canadensis Moravian Church, will attend the service.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The Alcatraz Federal Prison population was reduced to 64 yesterday.

The government moved 38 to other prisons Tuesday in gradually shutting down the grim "rock" in San Francisco Bay. Alcatraz had 260 convicts a year ago, most of them classed as incorrigible.

$4,000-Plus Needed For PM Joint Band

SWIFTWATER — More than $4,000 is needed by Pocono Mountain Joint School to outfit the 80-member senior band unit, Pocono Mountain Band Parents Association learned at a recent meeting.

The uniforms which have been changed from tunic style to dress coat, trousers and hat, cost $70 each. The association has more than $900 in its treasury and additional funds will be raised with the proceeds from the annual band concert March 29.

To further supplement funds, Charles Bruder headed a committee to request the budget and finance committee of the Joint School Committee, to appropriate monies from the 1963-1964 school budget.

A "Back To School" fashion show for late August is planned, with proceeds to go toward uniforms. The show will feature fashions from Wyckoff's, Stroudsburg.

Barrett PTA and Tannersville

PTA notified the association that they would each purchase one uniform for the senior band.

Members of the Woodwind Quartet, directed by Robert Lane, provided entertainment for the association.

The next meeting will be held in the joint high school auditorium Mar. 21 at 7:30 p.m.
